Summer Reading Update

It's August and there's still plenty of summer left! We hope you've been finding ways to Imagine Your Story throughout our Summer Reading Program. Our current theme is heroes. Heroes come in all shapes and sizes. Stop by our window display to see some interpretations of who or what may qualify for hero status.

Our fourth and final Summer Reading Kit rolls out this Wednesday, August 12th so be sure to pick yours up.

Look and see who's reached 500 points and earned themselves first dibs at a prize for their participation in NPL's Summer Reading Program:

Game Night: Team Trivia

Usually, librarians get asked all the questions but we're turning the tables and asking a few of our own...to you! Join us for our first Team Trivia on Tuesday, August 18th at 6 pm. This virtual family-friendly event will include questions on a variety of topics so start drafting your team now. (Teams of one are welcome too!)

It's easy to play. Here's how it works: We'll have three rounds of questions, with 15 questions in each round. We'll check in between rounds to get answers and tally scores. And of course what's trivia without a Final Round?

The ability to access Zoom and view slides on a screen is useful but questions will be read aloud so you can call in and play by phone too.

Choose Your Own Adventure and create some Fan Fiction.

Author Visit Success

Last Thursday local author Rosemary Rowland introduced us to some amazing women who are part of Newfield's story. She ended by reading a piece from her work that featured Mary Gregg, sister of Civil War hero Captain Gregg. We think Mary was a hero too! Special thanks to the Newfield United Methodist Church for use of their pavilion.

Women as Bright as Stars: The 19th Century Women of Newfield is available to borrow at the library. If you'd like to purchase the book please contact Rosemary at fnrland@gmail.com.

➔ Adult Meet Up

Thurs Aug 13
